

Corporate Membership Benefits

- Access through euspen's members only website to over 2000 peer-reviewed technical papers published by euspen in the field and to a database of over 3000 individuals and organisations world-wide working within euspen's fields of technology.
- Copies of technical matter (papers and presentations) relating to euspen special interest group meetings and international conferences.
- The corresponding member will receive the quarterly Journal of the International Societies for Precision Engineering and Nanotechnology – "Precision Engineering".
- European members will receive 6 editions of the magazine MST News per year – the international magazine on Smart Systems Technologies.
- Provision of limited circulation presentations and publications from leading experts in the field.
- Facility to post company news and vacancies on euspen website.
- Reduced fees for euspen conferences, seminars, training courses and euspen publications. This benefit is available to all employees from companies/institutions who are corporate members of euspen.
- Reduced fees for exhibition booths at euspen international conferences.
- Complimentary attendance at euspen Annual Corporate Member's Lunch.
- Access to details of MSc/PhD students studying in the field for recruitment purposes.
- The opportunity to serve on the Society's Council and Committees.
- Effective networking with leading practitioners, respected authorities, new and established players in the field.