

Individual Membership Benefits

- Access through euspen's members only website to over 2000 peer-reviewed technical papers published by euspen in the field and to a database of over 3000 individuals and organisations world-wide working within euspen's fields of technology.
- Copies of technical matter (papers and presentations) for euspen special interest group meetings and international conferences.
- Receipt of the quarterly Journal of the International Societies for Precision Engineering and Nanotechnology – "Precision Engineering".
- European members will receive 6 editions of the magazine MST News per year – the international magazine on Smart Systems Technologies.
- Reduced fees for euspen conferences, seminars, training courses and euspen publications.
- The opportunity to serve on the Society's Council and Committees.
- Effective networking with leading practitioners, respected authorities, new and established players in the field.